It's Winter, what is there to do?

You may think it's cold outside and there's nothing to do, but we beg to differ. Interior Alaska offers many winter activities for every outdoor enthusiast!

Cross-Country Skiing & Ski Joring
There are a plethora of ski trails in the Fairbanks area, including the UAF, Birch Hill, and Creamers Field Ski Trails.

Skiing & Snowboarding
Fairbanks has three ski resorts, all located less than twenty miles from town.

Winter Biking
Miles of mushing and snowmachining trails around Fairbanks are great for biking.

Sledding
The University has a sledding hill, located adjacent to the Student Recreation Center.

Snowshoeing
Any of the trails around Fairbanks can be used for snowshoeing.

Hot Springs
Tolovana and Hutlinana Hot Springs can be reached fairly easily in the winter.

Aurora Viewing
The Northern Lights are usually active. The best time to see them is on a clear night in the northern and eastern sky.

Ice Fishing
Many lakes have fishing year round. Check the Fish and Game Regulations to see which lakes are available for ice fishing.

Snowmachining
There are many different operators in Fairbanks that provide snowmachine rentals for the day or the week.
